CAROLE CONSTANT

PAINTER

Carole Constant grew up in northern New Jersey, sketching its woods, ponds, and flowers. After marrying her husband, they moved to Warwick, New York, where they built their own home and raised two sons. She attended various colleges—graduating from S.U.N.Y New Paltz with degrees in Fine Arts and Art History. After graduation, Carole was a freelance commercial artist. She also took commissions for watercolor, pen and ink, and oil paintings of clients' homes and landscapes. She is now devoting herself full time to oil painting. Her favorite subject matters include New England – partially the tidal areas and the last wooden boats of the fishing fleet; the historic Hudson Valley—it's mountains, lakes and architecture; the Great Southwest—it's grasslands, deserts, and mountains; and the wildlife and flowers found in these diverse areas. She paints whatever inspires her—whether it's because of its color, or the interplay of light, shadows, and forms at different times of day and in changing weather conditions.
