LORETTA ALFONSI
PAINTER

Loretta Alfonsi became interested in art in junior high school and began taking art classes after marrying and motherhood. She has taken many art classes over the years in adult education and at the junior college level. She bought property in Rodeo, New Mexico, in 1991, joined the Chiricahua Gallery, and has been an active member. She started a co-op gallery where she resides in Ramona, California, 24 years ago. Loretta is still learning and loves to push the paint around and to experiment.
